RESTAURANT DE SERS

Finding a quiet green setting for outdoor dining in the heart of Paris is a real challenge, which is why the Restaurant de Sers is a real gem. During warm weather, the action at this trendy spot moves out to a lovely terrace overlooking a surprisingly large and sylvan interior garden. Chef Christophe Hay does terrific salads, offbeat international dishes like Maryland-style crab cakes (they're delicious) with salad, and impeccable contemporary French food like sea bass in a jus de poulet. The not-to-be-missed dessert is Hay's stunning Franco-American cheesecake, the delicious result of the six years that he spent cooking in Los Angeles and Orlando.
